

QUIZZING ON THE BOOKS YOU READ

Log in with the user name you use to log onto a computer (full email address).

Password: page1

(The password for everyone is "page1")

Search the title of the book or the quiz number inside the front cover.

At the end of the quiz you will see if you passed the quiz and how many words you have read. The results save automatically.

You can check if books you have at home are also on Accelerated Reader - A lot of books are!

You can complete reading quizzes during your remote learning sessions or between 8:35-16:00 on weekdays.

You must read the whole book before you quiz. You must not look at the book while you are taking the quiz.

Email lrc@hansprice.org.uk if you have any questions or any problems with Accelerated Reader.

Choose and complete reflection tasks as you're reading your books and keep a record of their details when you finish them and quiz on Accelerated Reader. Try and complete each task at least once. You don't need to have finished your book to do a reflection task.

Examples of reflection tasks and reading records

1) Choose a favourite character. Describe them. Explain why you like them.	2) Draw a scene, a character or a map of the story's location.	3) What genre is the book? What are the characteristics of this genre?	4) Why did you choose this book?
5) Give examples of three literary techniques the author has used. (e.g. Metaphor/simile, imagery, personification, flashbacks)	6) Pick a meaningful quote and explain why it is important to the story or important to you.	7) Pick three words and define them. OR Pick three words and explain why they are effective.	8) Only looking at the front cover, what information does it give you and what can you infer?
9) Describe the setting of part of the story. (Use the five senses)	10) What do you like about the story so far?	11) What does the story teach you?	12) Write a timeline of events so far.
13) Summarise the story so far in thirty words or fewer.	14) Read the blurb, what questions does it leave you with?	15) Write what you expect to happen next. (Check back to see if you were right!)	16) Write an acrostic poem using the title or a character's name.

If you run out of books you can read the opening chapters of a wide range of books to experience new genres and styles of writing. You can complete reflection tasks on these chapters. Some will be shared with you and others are available on the World Book Day website

This information will be shown every time you finish a quiz.

You can find out your overall total on "View Tops Report" after a quiz or by clicking on the last book on your bookshelf

READING REFLECTION: 14

The blurb says that Harry lives with his Aunt and uncle but describes them as "grisly" which makes me wonder why he lives with them if they aren't nice and where his parents are.

The blurb also says that Harry goes to a magic school. It makes me start to imagine what the school would look like and what he'd learn there.

We are told that an "incredible adventure is about to begin". This leaves me asking myself what those adventures might include and how they might be different in a magical world.

READING RECORD

Title: Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone Rating: 5/5
Started: 10/03/2020 Finished: 17/03/2020

AR Score: 19/20 Words Read: 75,325

Summary

It's a brilliant story about an orphan boy who becomes part of a magical world he never knew existed. He faces new challenges, friendships, enemies and dangers. My favourite character was Hermione because she changes through the book and isn't afraid to show how clever she is.
